Introduction

This is a guide to Low Power AM (LPAM), Community Radio (CR), Restricted Service Licence (RSL) and Irish Temporary Licence (BCI TEMP) radio stations that are currently on air and a compilation logs, along with the original Special Event Radio (SER) stations, that have appeared in the British DX Club's monthly journal "Communication" since the mid-1980's (with additional logs added retrospectively from readers of this guide).

Britain's first ever Special Event Radio licence was granted to Greenbelt Festival Radio in 1983, a short-term radio station at the Greenbelt arts festival. The station was pioneered and led by Peter Laverock. This was the precursor of the Restricted Service Licence stations we now have, and the first ever legal radio station run by enthusiasts rather than professionals. From noon on Friday 26th August to noon on Tuesday 30th August a dedicated team presented programmes on 963 AM including Christian music, speakers and poets. There was news from the festival and requests from listeners across the site. The studio was a small caravan in the backstage area, with a minimum amount of technical equipment. Guests included a brief interview with Cliff Richard after his mainstage concert. (info from www.wayneclarke.org/radio/radio-revolutionaries)

In 1991 the SER licence was replaced by the Restricted Service Licence (RSL), which was issued by the Radio Authority instead of the Home Office (now issued by Ofcom). RSL licenses are granted for such things as coverage of special events and other special projects (e.g. training). Licensees are limited to a small coverage area and a usual maximum of 28 consecutive days. There are some exceptions to the consecutive days rule when covering a series of events such as those for sport (Radio Rovers on 1404 kHz and Radio Thrupton on 1602 kHz are current examples where they operate only when an event is being held).

Low Power AM (LPAM) licences are issued throughout the UK, except within an area enclosed by the M25 London orbital motorway, and allow for freely-radiating transmission on the AM waveband at a usual maximum radiated power of up to 1 watt. The first experimental licence was issued in 1997 and since 1999 have been used for many establishments including military bases, universities and hospitals with fixed boundaries.

Community Radio (CR) stations typically cover a small geographical area with a coverage radius of up to 5 km and run on a not-for-profit basis. The idea for this new level of radio broadcasting was piloted by the regulator at the time, the Radio Authority in 2002 with the licensing of 15 so-called Access Radio stations for a trial period of one year to test the feasibility of such stations. The licences were extended in 2003 for a further year, and in 2004 a consultation was issued by the Authority's successor, Ofcom, on the creation of Community Radio. They can cater for whole communities or for different areas of interest – such as a particular ethnic group, age group or interest group. Community Radio stations reflect a diverse mix of cultures and interests. For example, you can listen to stations which cater for urban or experimental music, while others are aimed at younger people, religious communities or the Armed Forces and their families.

The Broadcasting Commission of Ireland (BCI) is the body that authorises stations to operate in the Republic for short periods, with temporary licenses allowing them to be on air for up to thirty days in a given twelve month period. These licenses may be used by stations providing a service to coincide with local, cultural and sporting events or festivals. One such recent example of this kind of temporary licenced station (BCI TEMP) is Zenith Classic Rock on 1584 kHz.

One other kind of station that appears in this survey is the Test and Development licence that was issued to Bessemer Broadcasting in Sheffield on 1413 kHz and South Shropshire Communications on 1512 kHz in 1990/91.

936	05/11/15	1234	Dales R, Hawes. "This is a test transmission from Dales Radio, the new Community Radio station for The Yorkshire Dales. Coming soon on AM, FM and on-line. Keep listening, Dales Radio"; Repeated between each record. Seemed weaker than yesterday. Had to use N-S wire fence as ferrite sleeve was struggling to copy speech	~~~	nr
936	08/11/15	1220	Dales R, Hawes. Testing with music and IDs again. According to e-mail from Chris Parkin of Dales Radio, they are testing with a power of 100 Watts emrp and will be starting full programmes in the next few weeks	~~~	nr
936	10/11/15	0615	Dales R, Hawes. Got Dales Radio this morning here in Germany	~~~	ABo*
936	21/11/15	1330	Dales R, Hawes. Still testing with announcements between every other record. "Across the beautiful Yorkshire Dales we are proudly your station ... Dales Radio" and "From The Dales to The Dales, this is your Dales Radio". A good selection of oldies, not just 60's and 70's stuff. Reception seems better now they are using 150W. SIO 343 with a N-S wire fence aerial. Can just follow speech using a small loop aerial in the house, Dales' audio sounds good	343	nr

936	01/12/15	1500	Dales R, Hawes. Testing still with station IDs between every other record. "Your station, Dales Radio" and "From The Dales to The Dales, this is your Dales Radio". Still in the clear until 1530 then Spain fade-in	343	nr
936	02/12/15	~~~~	Dales R, Hawes. Fair signal on car radio just outside Ambleside. Only had time to check mid-morning & late afternoon (heard in two high spots near a place called Holbeck Ghyll and also not far from Hakeshead at a place called Tarn Howes)	~~~	RC
936	28/12/15	~~~~	Dales R, Hawes. Heard their test 'tape' when driving the A66 from Scotch Corner to Penrith; signal was fine (for AM) for most of journey	~~~	AMc
936	11/01/16	0815	Dales R, Hawes. Start-up day! Managed to catch live programming at 0815 whilst up on the hills dog-walking. Need the assistance of a wire fence aerial here as the signal is barely detectable at home even with a small loop. I assume it's because they are using 150 Watts as opposed to the 1 kW when they were YDR/Fresh when a small loop & large Hacker gave reasonable results	~~~	nr

URB, University of Bath, Bath, Somerset (LPAM)

Simon Hockenhill confirms that URB is off-air. The transmitter is damaged and the cost of repair and renewing the Ofcom license may be prohibitive at the current time. However, this may change if a new team running the station decides that it is worth continuing with mediumwave.
